Dear Allen:

I was delighted to learn from your letter of March 19 that you were able to read our Strategic Principles and that you thought well of them. I agree that the paper being worked out defining more closely the respective spheres of activity will be most useful in working out our program.

Please be assured of my real appreciation for your consideration of our paper, in view of the enormous amount of reading material with which I know you are confronted.

Sincerely,

Theodore C. Streibert
Director

The Honorable
Allen W. Dulles, Director,
Central Intelligence Agency,
